WHAT ARE THE MAJOR LIFE ACHIEVEMENTS SINCE YOUR GRADUATION ?

Changed degrees from medical to international relations , and started working with minority communities in political engagements.

My love for working with the community started with the ARA program at moc and has opened so many doors for me. Started my own initiative and consultancy program that is positioned to fill a critical gap in Australia's resettlement support infrastructure, specifically tailored for new African Australian families.

Drawing upon firsthand experiences as a refugee and the glaring deficiencies in existing services, my consultancy endeavors to revolutionize the migration experience by providing comprehensive support in education, mental health, community access, government assistance, and job opportunities.

I have worked with the United Nations in delivering and facilitating workshop on the SDG goals. Gotten a role at UniSA as a co researcher in helping PhD students conduct research on the Africana diaspora students belonging in Australia and travelled the world sharing my research.

Completed women's pathways into politics program which aims to push woman to pursue politics and become change makers . Now currently nominated as a South Australia's 7 news young achievers award recipient.

ANY TIPS FOR OUR FUTURE GRADUATING STUDENTS?

Don't be scared to start over, change degrees or be the first to be in any spaces. Being a woman in politics is extremely difficult but you cannot change a system you are currently a victim of. Bet on yourself , I always always put myself in rooms of people I know will help me drive my work, vision or I can learn from.
